

6-28-1918

The Chester News June 28, 1918

W. W. Pegram

Stewart L. Cassels

Follow this and additional works at: <https://digitalcommons.winthrop.edu/chesternews1918>

 Part of the Journalism Studies Commons, and the Social History Commons

Recommended Citation

Pegram, W. W. and Cassels, Stewart L., "The Chester News June 28, 1918" (1918). Chester News 1918. 47.
<https://digitalcommons.winthrop.edu/chesternews1918/47>

This Newspaper is brought to you for free and open access by the The Chester News at Digital Commons @ Winthrop University. It has been accepted for inclusion in Chester News 1918 by an authorized administrator of Digital Commons @ Winthrop University. For more information, please contact bramed@winthrop.edu.

LOT 1 SOLD

Press Shows Revival of Demand for Air Attacks on German Cities—
More of the Wounded Die.

London.—The Earl of Derby, Secretary of State for War, announced his afternoon that not a single soldier had been killed or wounded in Wednesday's air raids over England, which had been simply a killing and maiming of civilians, men, women and children, and from the German military viewpoint had absolutely no value whatever. He thought that no German airplane had been brought down yesterday.

He added that a notification had been received during the day that hostile aircrafts were again approaching the country, but apparently there was no truth in the report.

In the House of Commons, James McPherson, Parliamentary Secretary for the War Office, said that the air raiders crossed the Channel twelve minutes Wednesday. He Yesterday's raid has greatly lengthened the hands of those who long have advocated a reprisal against German towns, and the Gov-ment, which heretofore has been proposed thereto, will again be urged in Parliament to take this step. The Westminster Gazette, which gives reprisals, suggests that the best way of stopping raids on open shops is for the Entente Allies to intimate to the enemy that they are determined after the war to use their economic power against all who practice frightfulness, in the air or on the sea, or accumulate instruments of war and destruction. Referring to the seamen's refusal to carry pacifists because of the cruelties inflicted by the German unlimited submarine war, the newspaper says the same feeling has been expressed in the East End of London, where the demand is not for ending war. On the contrary, thousands of working people vow, the newspaper says, they never again will handle German goods or have dealings with the people who they hold responsible for these outrages.

A number of persons injured in the raid succumbed to their wounds
during the night.
Firemen, ambulance workers, phy-tians, and nurses, assisted by the police, were engaged throughout the night in the search for the bodies of victims in the areas which suffered most heavily. There were pathetic scenes in hospitals and police stations, where women and men waited hours in the hope of receiving more favorable news regarding missing relatives.

SOCIALIST IN REICHSTRAT DEMANDS PEACE MOVE

Wants Proclamation on Basis of No Annexations or Indemnities.

London, June 14.—According to a Munich dispatch, Karl Seitz, a Socialist, in a discussion of the budget in

... Austrian lower house made a ... plea for peace on the basis
... no annexations or indemnities.
... said the aim of the Stockholm
... conference was to remove misunder-
... standing and that if successful in
... the Socialist hoped to be able to
... part in all countries a great uniform
... movement in the interest of peace.
... "We demand from the Govern-

...a frank and unreserved statement that it is ready to do everything to put an end to this terrible slaughter by a solemn proclamation on a basis of no annexations and no indemnities," he said. "Such a proclamation would be a sign of strength, not of weakness."

A Reuter dispatch from Amsterdam quotes a Vienna dispatch as saying that the German government ating that in the Upper House of the Reichsrat the Premier said the Government, while it was emphatically maintaining the foundations of the Constitution, recognized the necessity of enlarging constitutional institutions with the idea of doing more justice than previously to the wishes and needs of the people, according to their national cultural development and attitudes, while pro-

WANT THEIR HUSBANDS TO BECOME SOLDIERS.

Washington, June 13—Among the thousands of letters reaching the postmaster's office these days from wives, mothers and sweethearts asking their husbands to become soldiers.

granted exemption for their men, officials were amused today to find several from wives recommending that their husbands be conscripted. One woman said her husband didn't want to go to war, but had no good reason for not going, and "tipped" the War Department that it would be just as well to make a soldier of him.

Licensed Embalmers
 Residence 136 and 356.
 Glen St.

